Iris Moreau knows perfection from the inside out. After successful careers in New York and Paris as a classical dancer and model, Iris took her passion for painting and color experimentation, as well as her love of fashion, and applied them to the art of makeup. Her versatility and professionalism quickly made her a favorite with clients while her attention to detail and easy-going attitude continue to keep her in high demand. Iris's love of pure essential oils and cruelty free beauty led her to create Iris Moreau Beauty Precious Rose Serum, an ultra-nourishing serum made with organic rose damascena that she uses on her clients.

Iris approaches each new face as a blank canvas with endless possibilities. A native of Southern California, she divides her time between L.A., N.Y., and Paris where she is constantly searching for new sources of inspiration to incorporate into her work.

Iris's work has appeared in the pages of Vogue Italia, Elle, Glamour, Glamour Mexico, L'Officiel Netherlands, L'Officiel ID, Marie Claire, and countless other publications. Her celebrity faces include Oliva Wilde, Eva Longoria, Paris Hilton, America Ferrera, January Jones, Kelsey Grammer and Samuel Jackson. Additionally, she works regularly with clients such as Paul Mitchell, Milani Cosmetics, Roc, Guess, and Urban Decay, to name a few.
